BARRED ROCKS FIRST IN 18TH WEEK AT STORRS

In the eighteenth week of the lay-out contest at Storrs, competition was nearly as keen as in the previous week. Two pens of Barred Rocks, both from Westhampton Beach, L. I., and entered by Jules F. Francis and Onack Farm, tied for first place with 51 eggs each. Thus these two pens did one egg better than the high mark of 50 for the year, made last week by Harry D. Emmons' Wyandottes from Plymouth, Conn. The winning pen for the week has a long established record for good laying. The owner of the pen won eight contests at Storrs with a performance of 2,022 eggs for the year. Over a period of five years, pens from the same source have averaged to lay 1,807 eggs, in view of which it will be surprising if the pen in this contest does not stand well up towards the top when the race is over. A. I. Pittsford's Black Leghorns from Pittsford, N. J., tied for second place with 49 eggs each. Three Connecticut pens, Barred Rocks, entered by Merritt M. Clark from Brookfield Center, Rhode Island Reds owned by Joseph E. Jensen, North Haven, and White Leghorns bred by L. A. Groves, Farmington, all tied for third place with 48 eggs each. The total yield for all pens was 2,512 eggs or a yield of 51 per cent, an increase of 58 eggs over the previous week's production.

The output of newly laid eggs will naturally increase during the next few weeks and it will be just as natural that egg prices will ease off a little. The season for preserving eggs for home use is now nearly at hand. The management of the contest has already received inquiries concerning eggs to be used for preserving in water glass for use when prices are high. Unfortunately the contest can supply few or no eggs for this purpose. Hence, it is suggested that those interested in the preservation of eggs for home use can secure a suitable product by inquiring at their local Farm Bureau. The three best pens in each of the principal varieties are as follows:

Liked the Lesson.
A Massachusetts manufacturer, to give his employees a lesson in thrift, said that the waste for the week had been $175 and as an object-lesson thereon that amount of money in coin was placed in a box and left out of the window. The thirty employees carefully gathered up the money and their only regret was that they had not wasted twice as much.—Detroit Free Press.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Attorney Warren D. Chase, formerly of Danielson, is president of the Rowe Calk and Chalk company now in the hands of a receiver. Edwin S. Todd, of Southington, has been named as permanent receiver for the concern by Judge Thomas of the United States district court, sitting at New Haven, upon certificate filed by the company. The company has been employing about 200 hands in its factory at Southington and during the present week about half this number were let go.

Receiver Todd is quoted as saying that no statement of the assets and liabilities had been prepared for him, but that the management had assured him that the assets of the company were sufficient to meet the demands of creditors.

It was stated in New Haven, following the court proceedings, that the action taken was a friendly one and for the protection of the creditors, to conserve the assets until a fair amount could be realized from their sale; that the nature of the matter was not favorable to the conduct of the business; that it was impossible at times to secure raw material, and that other conditions compelled the pulling up of large stocks of finished product, the market for which should become active within a few months.

The Rowe Calk company moved from Hartford to Southington about five years ago. In addition to Mr. Chase as president, Louis H. Chisholm, Springfield, treasurer; Edward Dea, New York, assistant treasurer and auditor.

The company manufactures automobile chassis for automobiles, patent jacks, etc. In addition to the Southington plant a small plant is operated at York, Penn.

Sigmar Elmas, the Goodyear Alhambra who is charged with assaulting Martin Littlefield of Railroad street, Danielson, with intent to kill, remained at the police station during Thursday awaiting a hearing, which has been set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Elmas has retained Attorney Charles L. Torrey of Putnam as counsel, and Mr. Torrey was unable to come to Danielson during Thursday.

The condition of the state highway between this place and Danielson became so wretched during Thursday that the bus line service had to be abandoned after some morning trip had been made. The towing spell has played havoc with the bus line, through which the busses have been running for weeks, for these ways, especially the runs over the line of least resistance for the quantity of water and through them the water ran, piling up behind snow carriers at low places and creating ponds of considerable dimensions. One of the worst places was at the corner of Stone's corner, just north of Judd avenue, on the Elmville road. At this point it was necessary for a force of men to go to the barriers and cut it out so as to make the highway at all passable. It is likely that the busses will be back on the job today.

Thursday, however, the busses were kept up as far north as Dayville.

In discussing the special borough meeting that unanimously voted to contest the proposed advances in rates by the Crystal Water company, Attorney Harry E. Back, representing the Connecticut Mill company, now one of the largest of the borough's taxpayers, called attention to the fact that a great deal that residents of the borough have been desiring to know about the water company's affairs will likely be brought out at the hearing before the public utilities commission. From facts and figures that in all likelihood will be brought out at the hearings, Danielson people will learn whether or not the Crystal Water company is a paying concern and as to how well it pays. This information, Mr. Back has pointed out, will be valuable in considering whether the borough would do well to purchase the water company's rights and property. If the company is earning big returns, this will be an argument against so remarkable an advance in rates as is proposed; if the company is earning only meagre returns, or losing money, this may be used as a ground for contending that the property, if the borough desires to buy, should be had at a reasonable price.

Embodied in the resolution that the meeting adopted, a paragraph that requests that the Public Utilities Commission give consideration to the amount of pressure furnished by the company's service. Vice President Obadiah Butler of the borough, at the meeting that the pressure of the water service as supplied by his company is not adequate as a full protection against fire, and added the fact that it has been necessary for his concern to erect tanks to hold a reserve supply of water in order to meet the requirements of insurance companies carrying risks on the burg.

Just when the borough officials, now having full power to act in contesting the rates, will do so, has not been definitely decided. It was stated on Thursday, but it will be done in respect to what is to be done is expected within a few days.

Superintendent Hope, of the Shore Line Electric Railway company on the local lines said Thursday that he hoped that cars would be running again here during the coming week. This is all dependent, however, upon the speed with which the ice covering the rails disappears. Through Danielson's line, but out in the open country the line is clearing up very rapidly and a car could be run on some parts of the line. The company will delay no longer than is necessary in restoring service. Mr. Hope said, clearing away what remains of the ice when nature has done most of the work that will be required to get the lines open again. Cars have not run here since February 4, and since that date one

PUTNAM

Trolley service may be resumed in this city during the coming week. There is nothing definite about this all depending on the weather and the speed with which the ice that now covers the rails in many places disappears.

Superintendent Hope of the Putnam lines of the company was here on Thursday for the first time in a month. Mr. Hope, who has been at Norwich, Conn., for the past several weeks, is making plans for the resumption of service at the earliest possible moment.

Though the tracks of the company are free of ice, through much of the open country where the line runs between this city and Dayville the rails are still hidden where they run through the streets. Most of this ice must disappear before the company will attempt to fully clear the line and make it ready for cars again.

No cars have been operated here since Feb. 4, and the trolley is the longest in the history of the road on account of storms.

There was no change Thursday in the strike situation at the plant of the Waterbury Worsted company. The strikers, who have been out about two weeks, were going to the office of the company on Thursday to get such money as was due them, it being pay day. The strikers seemed confident on Thursday that they will win eventually, but there was no sign in sight of a quick change from the present situation.

A big and powerful "quad" motor truck owned by Bayer Brothers of the town of Thompson left Putnam Thursday before 11 o'clock in an effort to make its way through to Providence for a trip that no motor vehicle has been able to accomplish since that much traveled route was "locked" by the big storm of Feb. 4.

The truck was loaded and on a mission to deliver a load of lumber to a company of this city. The crew expressed confidence that their big machine would be able to make the trip, but they made no predictions as to how long it would take. The driver, who simply had orders to break a way through, and they were going to do it if it were in the power of a motor truck to do so.

This particular truck, recently equipped with a special type of low tire to give it tremendous pulling power, made its way through from Thompson to Putnam on Wednesday, and its crew believes that the "quad" route will not offer any greater difficulties than were encountered on that trip during which the great wheels, equipped with pneumatic tires, were practically out of sight in drifts at times.

The drivers expected to meet with difficulties in getting through to Providence and earned along above with which to attack drifts that might prove too formidable for their machine.

The success of this trip is generally hoped for and the effort will be watched with interest. Getting the Chenatchet route open again would mean a great deal to the manufacturers concerned here and in other towns in this vicinity.

Rev. H. N. Brown of South Manchester, formerly pastor of the Pentecostal churches in Putnam and Putnam, was a visitor in Putnam on Thursday. Mr. Brown had here to transact some business while en route to Providence to confer with another official relative to the annual East Douglas interdenominational camp meeting, of which he is a general secretary. Mr. Brown stated that the dates for the camp meeting this year are July 14-16, and that more people than ever before are expected to be in attendance. Mr. Brown has been preaching at a Hartford church during the winter months.

March 26 has been set as the date for a meeting of taxpayers to be called together to discuss what action they wish to take relative to bringing about a revaluation generally of the property of the town. Such revaluations are demanded by state law, but here in Putnam the statute has been ignored, though many increases in valuations have been made by the assessors during the past few years.

The fact that both town and city have at their highest levels in history taken with the consideration that the combined town and city tax rates now amount to $1.12 mills is the reason why the taxpayers have become very much interested in securing an arrangement for a general revaluation.

The attempt to bring the revaluation matter before the serious attention of the voters is being made by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Quinebaug river and other streams in the vicinity of Putnam are steadily rising. Up to Thursday afternoon the Quinebaug, the largest of the streams here, and the most dangerous in case of a flood, which many have feared for the past month, had not risen sufficiently to cause any alarm. It was gaining steadily. Great quantities of water have poured into this river during the past week from all of the watershed that it drains, and it is now at a height where on heavy rainfalls would be very apt to cause trouble.

Along stretches of this swift running stream in the vicinity of Putnam the river is free of ice, but over the car has remained stalled on the line at Wauregan.

State Policemen Bridgeman and Elliott were in Danielson on business connected with their department on Thursday.

greater part of its length, both above and below this city, it is covered with ice that is exceedingly heavy, reaching a thickness of 30 inches in places. The quick breaking up of this ice by a sudden rise of the river is what is feared. Set loose, it would create havoc with dams, most of which in this section and below are many years old and not likely to withstand such a tremendous hammering as the passing of hundreds of thousands of tons of heavy ice would subject them to. Little can be done to offset the possibility of damage by such a flood as now threatens, and to hope for the best and the slow melting away of the ice is what all vitally interested are doing.

The annual church home right meeting at the Methodist church is to be held on March 24. Dr. Luther E. Govey of Boston is to be the speaker of the evening.

Rev. A. D. Carpenter of Williamsville will come here to speak at both the morning and evening services at the Baptist church on Sunday. These services will mark the opening of a two weeks' gospel mission.

Attorney Frank H. Case of Williamsville, assistant clerk of the superior court, was on duty here on Thursday in the absence of Clerk Edgar M. Warner.

Again this week the state police have been giving their attention in Putnam to a search for stolen cars. The investigations are being made by Officers Bridgeman, Stiles and Elliott, who are also giving their attention to their matters, including the restaurant safe robbery at Goodyear.

Ask Putnam's trout fishermen what they think of the prospects of being able to get trout for their favorite sport when the season opens on April 1, and the chances are that you will be told: "We can't fish for trout through the ice."

The boys who like to play baseball have learned this early in the season that balls have greatly advanced in price since last year, but that is not going to stop them from playing, they assure the world.
